Best-selling and award-winning writer and human rights advocate Kati Marton, will give the annual Wallenberg Tribute Lecture on Sunday, September 18th. Her most recent best seller, a memoir entitled Paris: A Love Story, recounts her story of love and loss with two husbands, ABC journalist Peter Jennings and diplomat Richard Holbrooke, who received an honorary degree from Muhlenberg in 1996.

Ms. Marton was born in Hungary, the child of Holocaust survivors. Her first of eight books was Wallenberg, the biography of the Swedish diplomat responsible for saving the lives of tens of thousands of Hungarian Jews from extermination by Nazis during World War II. She also wrote Enemies of the People: My Family’s Journey to America. Her newest book, The True Believer: The Secret Life of Noel Field, Stalin’s Last American Spy, is forthcoming this year. Marton has been a journalist for organizations including ABC News, National Public Radio, The New Yorker, The Times of London, and The Wall Street Journal. Among numerous awards, she has received the United Nations Association Leo Nevas Human Rights Award and a Rockefeller Foundation Creative Arts fellowship.
