Muhlenberg finishes fourth, makes CC playoffs for the first time since 2009!

The 2012 season has been a memorable one for the Muhlenberg women's soccer program. Although the Mules experienced a trying start, the team responded with a strong run in league play. After beating nationally ranked Johns Hopkins in a thrilling 2-0 victory at Homecoming, the Mules went on to beat five more conference opponents, finishing the season with a 6-3-1 CC record and placing fourth in the conference standings.

Several Muhlenberg players led the push for the post-season. Junior CJ Graetzer found the net 3 times, while senior Natalie Wizel and freshman Taylor Pini each notched 2 against CC opponents. Senior Maggie Neary, juniors Susan Galgano and Stephanie Tramutola, and sophomore Krissy Fioretti have anchored the defense throughout conference play. In goal, freshman Francesca Cobuzzi has recorded a 0.77 GAA this season, ranked fourth in the conference.

In the first round of the CC tournament, the Mules fell to Swarthmore 1-0 in a well-played match. Outshooting Swarthmore 18-8 and recording 12 corners to their opponent's 4, it was a difficult way to end the season.

As always the support from the alumni is much appreciated, and we look forward to a productive spring. We can’t wait to get back on the pitch in 2013!

Maggie Neary (left) and CJ Graetzer (below) were named to the 2012 All-Centennial Conference Women’s Soccer First Team. Neary (senior) led the Mules’ defense that allowed only 14 goals in 19 games, a new program record. Muhlenberg also led the league this season allowing only 3 goals against in 10 league matches. Neary added to the offense this season, notching one goal and two assists.

Graetzer (junior) led the attack for the Mules with striking footwork and several memorable goals. Scoring 3 goals and an assist in conference play, Graetzer’s efforts helped the Mules defeat Johns Hopkins, Swarthmore, and Dickinson. Her ability to create scoring opportunities was a significant factor in the Mule’s success this fall.
